HISTORY

HISTORY OF THE NORFOLK ACADEMY

Founded in 1728, the Norfolk Academy is Virginia's oldest secondary independent school and one of the oldest educational institutions in the Nation. The earliest site for the Norfolk Academy was the southeast side of Church Street. During its first half-century, the school changed locations, was burned by the British under Lord Dunmore during the Revolution, and was rebuilt. When La Rochefoucauld-Liancourt visited Norfolk from France in 1796, he found the school flourishing. "There is a very good school for boys there," he reported, "the tuition being forty dollars a year for each pupil."

Times, trends, and tuition fees have changed since 1796, but "a very good school" is still exactly what Norfolk Academy seeks as its goal. The test of a school can better be found in the lives of its graduates than in the statements in its brochures. Generations of boys have gone from the Academy to attend a wide variety of institutions of higher learning in all parts of the country, and to become responsible and able citizens. A sense of commitment to the community and nation, along with respect for intellectual achievement, self-discipline, firm moral principles, and a continuing will to learn, are a part of the tradition of the School which is cherished as a sound foundation upon which to build for the future.

The time has come for other important changes. Communicating the complex knowledge of our century to young people is a challenging task demanding the very best. The present level of development cannot be frozen and, at the same time, provide "a very good school" which will meet the changing needs and aspirations of the coming generations.

HISTORY OF THE COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL FOR GIRLS OF VIRGINIA BEACH

Founded in 1957, the Country Day School for Girls was designed to furnish a sound independent school education for girls of the area. Although the curriculum took the form of "college preparatory" courses, the emphasis has not been solely on academic work. There has been offered the broadest possible experience in creativity. Painting, dramatics, music (choral and instrumental), and creative writing have given satisfying artistic outlets to the girls and have helped to develop talents which will enrich their lives.

The school's first graduation was in June of 1959. Since that time, its graduates have gone on to some form of higher education, including a number who are now doing graduate work. In June of 1966 there will be 24 graduates and a total enrollment of 180 girls.

The school has grown in size, in offering, and in spirit. Truly astonishing progress has been made in a very short time, considering very inadequate facilities located on a small ocean-front site at Virginia Beach in two buildings previously used as boarding houses. Now firmly established in reputation and tradition, the school looks forward to an even brighter future with more adequate housing and better equipment.

HISTORY AND COMMITTEES

HISTORY AND COMMITTEES

An educational obligation to the community and its young people brought the Norfolk Academy and the Country Day School together in merger.

In February of 1959, the Norfolk Academy Board authorized the appointment of a committee to investigate expansion possibilities, including consideration of coordination with a school for girls. The special committee was appointed by President Edward R. Baird and first met with each member of the Academy Board.

Studies showed that the school was at its capacity at its present site and that expansion there was not possible. Obviously, a new location for at least part of the Academy was necessary.

During 1960, several meetings were held with Country Day School representatives to discuss the plans and philosophies of the two schools. Country Day had tentative plans to build a new school at another location, on property already purchased.

These meetings evolved the merger concept for the two institutions. Many factors indicated that community interest would best be served by a coordinated school.

Thus a Joint Expansion Committee was created in July 1961 to work out the many details involved. After a Committee investigation of many possible sites, selection was made of 56 acres on Northampton Boulevard adjacent to Wesleyan College. The City of Norfolk, owner of the land, agreed to sell and it was purchased in September 1963.

Later in 1963, the boards of the two schools formed a new corporation, the Academy-Country Day Fund, to take title of the land, to plan new buildings, to solicit and raise funds, and to complete all necessary work for the opening of the new school.

Original plans called for the upper school at the new site, the lower school to remain at the old location. This was altered after the Jewish Community Center bought the entire North Shore Road location in October of 1964.

On April 11, 1966, the boards of the two schools merged and a new slate of officers was elected from the 25-member board.

The Academy-Country Day Fund, working through the Fund-Raising and Joint Expansion Committees, is continuing its efforts to raise funds so that the new school will be debt-free.

"THIS IS A WONDERFUL DAY"

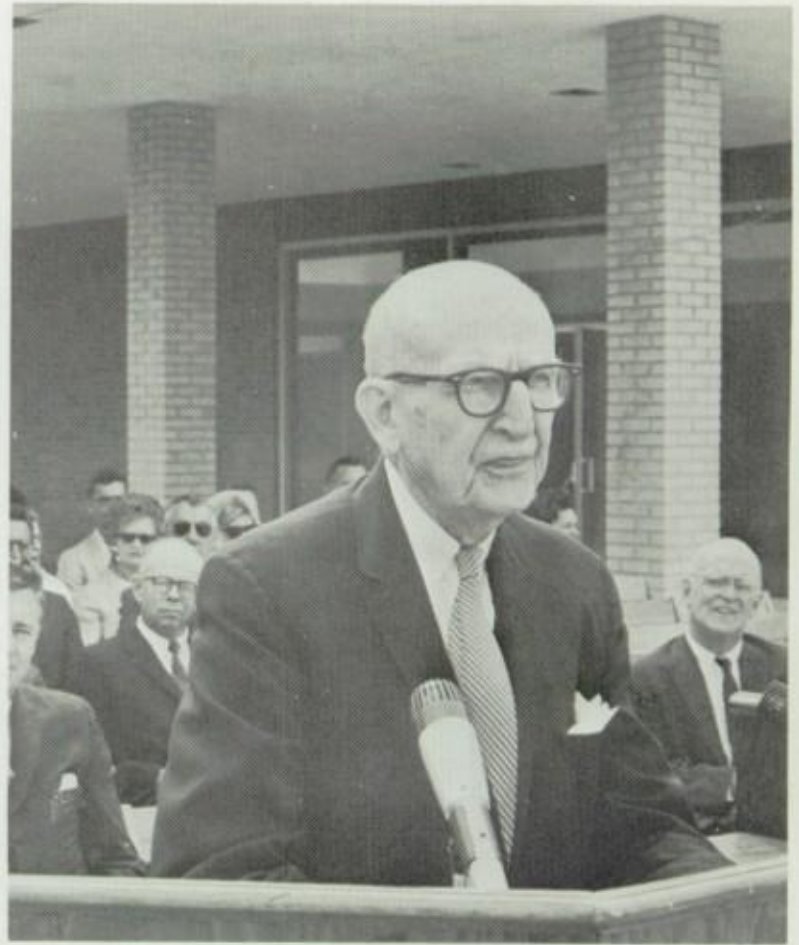

Remarks at the Cornerstone Laying,
The Norfolk Academy
May 22, 1966

by Mr. Lenoir Chambers

This is a wonderful day. For the Norfolk Academy May has long been a month of rebirth. If I may be so brash as to intrude among great lines of modern poetry, for the Academy May is the kindest "month, breeding" schoolhouses "out of the dead land, mixing / Memory and desire, stirring / Old roots with spring rains"—and with spring sun too, and the presence of new life, and the hope of a better world.

In May of 1840, when Miles King was Mayor of Norfolk, and Thomas M. Gilmer was Governor of Virginia, and Martin Van Buren was President of the United States, on the 25th day of the month, the Academy laid the cornerstone of the Greek temple that was rising where Bank and Charlotte Streets meet. It laid thereby the foundation for seventy-five years of Academy history, broken once by pestilence and again by a war that captured classrooms for hospital beds and the healing of human bodies. The message of that cornerstone was that this school would live forever.

Varsity Football

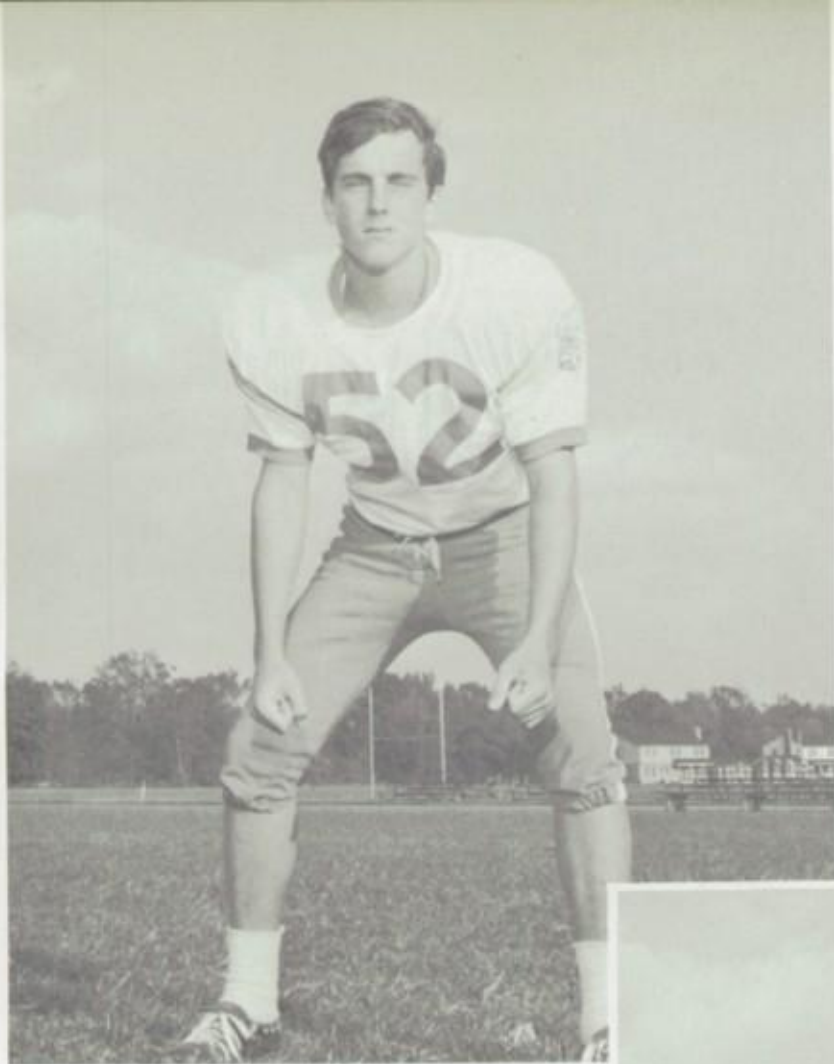

The Norfolk Academy football team ended the season with a heart-breaking record, of three wins and five losses. This certainly was not an indication of the desire and hitting shown throughout the season by the Bulldog eleven. This year's co-captains were Kelly Jones who was our quarterback, and Bill Mayo who played right halfback. This year's offensive team consisted of Ted Wood and Chris Castle at ends, Tom Batchelder and Joe Hume at tackles, at guards John Payne and John Taylor, center John Coppedge. In the backfield besides Jones at quarterback and Mayo at halfback are John Calloway starting at fullback with Shep Garris and Mike Cox backing him up. Other halfbacks are Bill Mason and Bobby Hill. The defensive starters included Tom Brockenbrough, Hank Garrison, and Jeff Bloodworth.

The biggest victory of the season came as the Bulldogs beat Blue Ridge Academy on our home field 27-19. Other victories came against Christchurch 7-0 and Hampton Roads 36-12. Defeats were suffered at the hands of Collegiate, VES, Benedictine, Norfolk Catholic, and Saint Christopher's.

N.A. 36—Hampton Roads 12

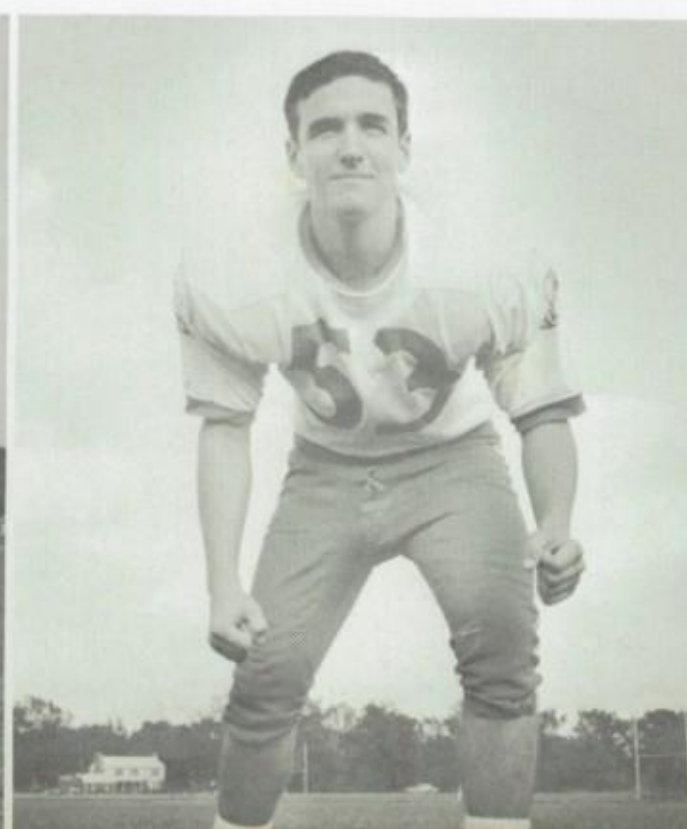

Beginning its season with its first opening-game win in five years, the Academy eleven outplayed the Hampton Roads Navigators to an impressive 36 to 12 victory on September 23. Scoring on a drive from the opening kickoff, the Academy was soon challenged by the Navigators, who raised the score to 7-6. In the second quarter, however, Quarterback Casey Jones led the team to a comfortable 21-6 lead at half-time. In the second half John Callaway scored again for the Bulldogs, after which the second team succeeded in scoring a touchdown and a safety, while HRA could muster only six more points.

N.A. 7—Christchurch 0

Norfolk Academy won its second straight game of the season by defeating the Christchurch Seahorses 7 to 0 on the new Academy campus.

The Academy defense was the difference in the game as Christchurch was held to one first down and only 26 yards gained in total offense. The only Bulldog touchdown stemmed from a fierce drive of 89 yards in 22 carries by John Callaway in the second quarter. Ted Wood kicked the point after touchdown to finish the Bulldog scoring.

Norfolk Academy 13—Collegiate 21

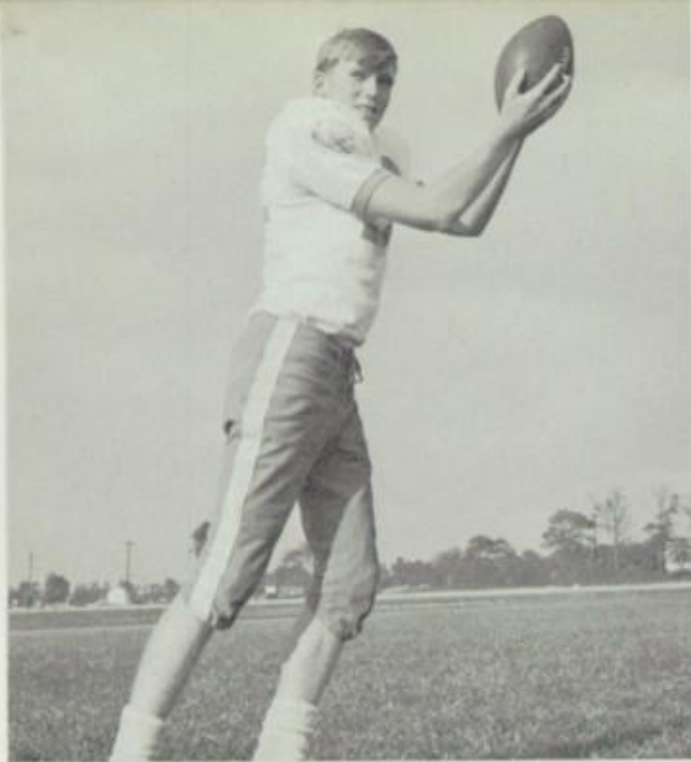

The NA Varsity football team suffered its first defeat of the season on October 7 when it lost to Collegiate 21-13.

Defensive Bill Mayo intercepted a pass on the first play from scrimmage but the team failed to capitalize on the opportunity.

NA's scoring came from a two-yard drive by Bill Mayo, and in the third quarter with a broken extra-point attempt and by a forty-two yard pass from Casey Jones to Mayo in the final quarter. Ted Wood added the final extra point.

Norfolk Academy 0—Virginia Episcopal School 13

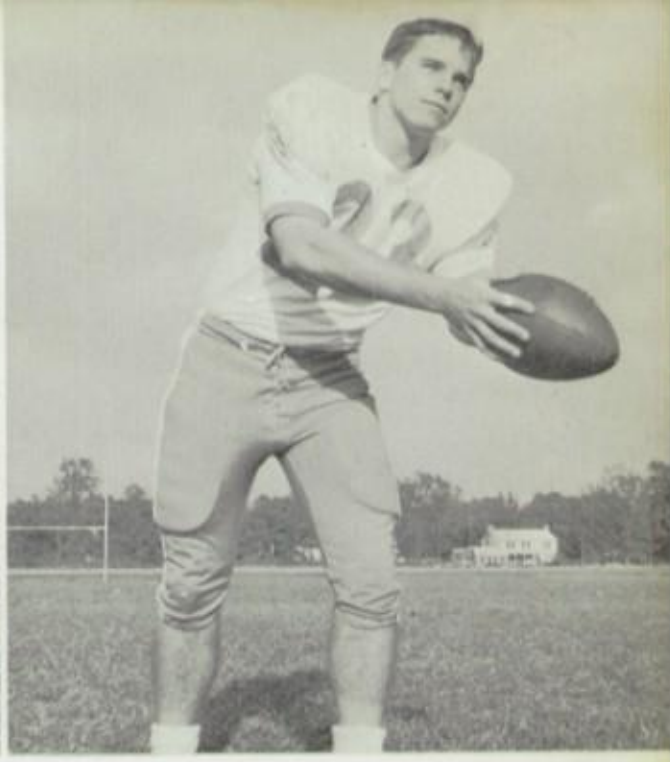

On October 15, Norfolk Academy met a strong Virginia Episcopal team on the Bulldogs' home field. Although Quarterback Casey Jones passed the Bulldogs inside the VES thirty-yard line, the first half resulted in a defensive battle ending in a 0-0 score. In the second half, however, VES broke the tie with a seventy-yard screen pass. Trailing then by six points, the Bulldogs were unable to rally a score, while several passes were intercepted by the Bishop's defense. Scoring again in the fourth quarter, VES brought the score to a final 13-0 defeat for the Academy.

Norfolk Academy 2—Norfolk Catholic 26

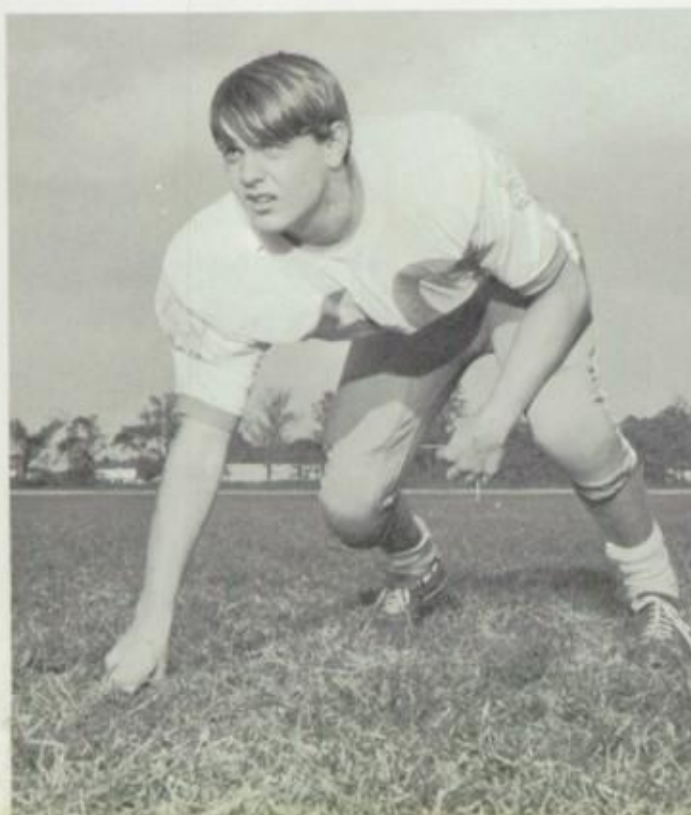

On Saturday, October 22, the Bulldogs travelled to Norfolk Catholic High School to challenge the undefeated Crusaders, going into the game with a record of two wins and two losses. Facing perhaps the toughest Catholic team of the last decade, the Bulldogs' defense did an outstanding job of containing the Crusaders despite the final deficit of twenty-three points. The Crusaders' touchdowns were the result of a number of break-aways. In the second quarter, the defense scored a safety for the Academy.

Bill Mayo led the team in offense with thirty-five yards rushing. He also caught three passes from Quarterback Jones for a total of thirty-eight yards.

Norfolk Academy 27—Blue Ridge 19

Rising to its third win of the season, the Academy Bulldogs, on October 29, played host to, and victor over, the Blue Ridge Academy Barons. Scoring on the first play from scrimmage on a seventy-yard double reverse pass from Whiz McNeal to Ted Wood, the Academy eleven took a lead which held throughout the game. Tallying two more TD's in the first half, the Bulldogs held an impressive 20-0 lead as the third quarter began. While the Barons managed to score three touchdowns in the second half, a strong Academy offense scored from a sustained drive down the field to end the game with a 27-19 victory.

Jeff Bloodworth

Norfolk Academy 0—Benedictine 13

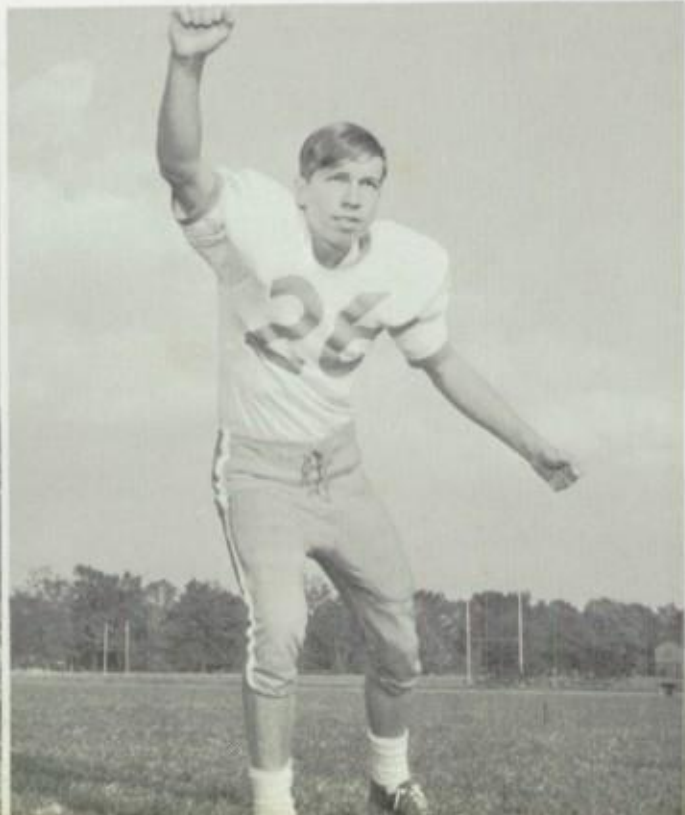

On November 5, the Academy, now 3-3, traveled to Richmond to play under the lights at City Stadium. The Cadets successfully attempted an on-sides kick and went on to score early in the game. This gave Benedictine the lead, 7-0 and a psychological edge for the whole game. The Bulldogs were unable to mount an offensive as the Cadets mustered a good pass defense. The Bulldog defense did a good job itself, as many times it had to hold the Cadets deep in its own territory. Benedictine scored one more touchdown to make the final score 13-0.

Norfolk Academy 0—St. Christopher's School 31

On November 11, the Bulldogs played host to St. Christopher's of Richmond in the final game of the season for both teams. The Bulldogs played one of their best halves of the season, holding the much stronger and highly favored visitors to seven points. The Academy was unable to reach paydirt but twice penetrated inside the ten-yard line of the Saints.

In the second half, the Bulldogs, hampered by key injuries, fell prey to the visitors, as they scored four touchdowns. The final score was Academy 0, St. Christopher's 31.

JV Football

The J.V. Football Team ended the 1966 season with won-loss-tied record of 5-1-1. Coached by Mr. Leo Anthony and Mr. Kenny Miller, the team showed excellent performances against many Independent and Group One schools. The team opened its season at Norfolk Catholic and easily defeated the Crusaders by a score of 13-7. The J.V.'s winning streak ended when they played host to Indian River the following week. The final score was N.A. 7 Indian River 36. The Bullpups ventured to Virginia Beach, where they battled the Seahawks to a 7-7 tie. After this game the Bullpups began a four-game winning streak which lasted through the rest of the season. They defeated Christchurch twice, the first time by a score of 21-6 and the second by a score of 14-7. The Bullpups went on to defeat Norview 13-0, and Kempsville 28-6. A few of the outstanding players this season were halfbacks: Pat Fitzgerald, Tommy Andrews and Sam Compton; fullbacks: Bruce Gould and Ed Early; and linemen, Bill Coppedge, Richard Welton, Danny McClung, Frank Thomas and Claude Bain.

Cross Country

The cross-country team finished the season with eight wins, the first place in the TCIS conference meet, and only four losses. These losses were to Collegiate (25-30), St. Christopher's (15-49), Churchland (22-35), and Hampton Roads Academy and Frederick Military Academy in a triangular meet (39-41-49). In the course of the season, the team won 8 meets. They were against HRA (22-37), Norfolk Christian (18-42) and FMA (23-56-47), Christchurch (15-48), VES (21-34), HRA (19-37), Norfolk Catholic (20-43), and the TCIS Meet. Although there was considerable variation the Bulldogs usually finished in this order: Rick Eustis, first; John Lumpkin, second; Rob Eustis, third; Gray Eubanks, fourth; and John Ford, fifth.

Varsity Basketball

This year the Norfolk Academy basketball team got off to its best start in six years with a starting record of five wins and three losses. Four of last year's five starters returned and this experience is shown by the overall poise and confidence exhibited by the Bulldogs. The offense, led by Gray Eubank, a new sophomore, and Bill Mayo, senior co-captain, has mounted an impressive scoring attack while the defense has limited its opponents to fifty points per game. Other starters include Casey Jones, also a captain, and juniors Chris Castle and Jay Griffin. Rounding out the team are Rick Eustis and Claude Bain, who have also played as reserves.

J.V. Basketball

Coach Edmonds

The 1966-67 J.V. Basketball Team, under the coaching of Mr. Fred Edmonds and the leadership of Co-Captains Sam Compton and Jim Sellers, has posted a winning season of 7-5 up to this date. They have gained impressive wins over Hampton Reads, Virginia Beach Junior High, Peninsula Catholic, and Indian River. Outstanding players on the team are Bill Coppedge, Keith Bangel, Chip Beamon, and Ed Early. This year's team should prove a great asset to the Varsity in the coming years.

Varsity Wrestling

Wrestling, like tennis, is an individual sport which requires much practice—a sport not so much of muscle as of timing and the ability to make certain moves quickly. This year the team has worked hard under the capable direction of Coach Sam Parsons, and with its Co-Captains Jeff Weisberg and John Donahoe, to learn these skills.

The 1966-67 schedule, incomplete at this point, includes Kellam (NA 13—Kellam 34), Frederick Military Academy (NA 21—FMA 25), Hampton High (NA 9—Hampton High 31), First Colonial (NA 17—First Colonial 27), Kempsville, St. Christopher's, and Norfolk Catholic.

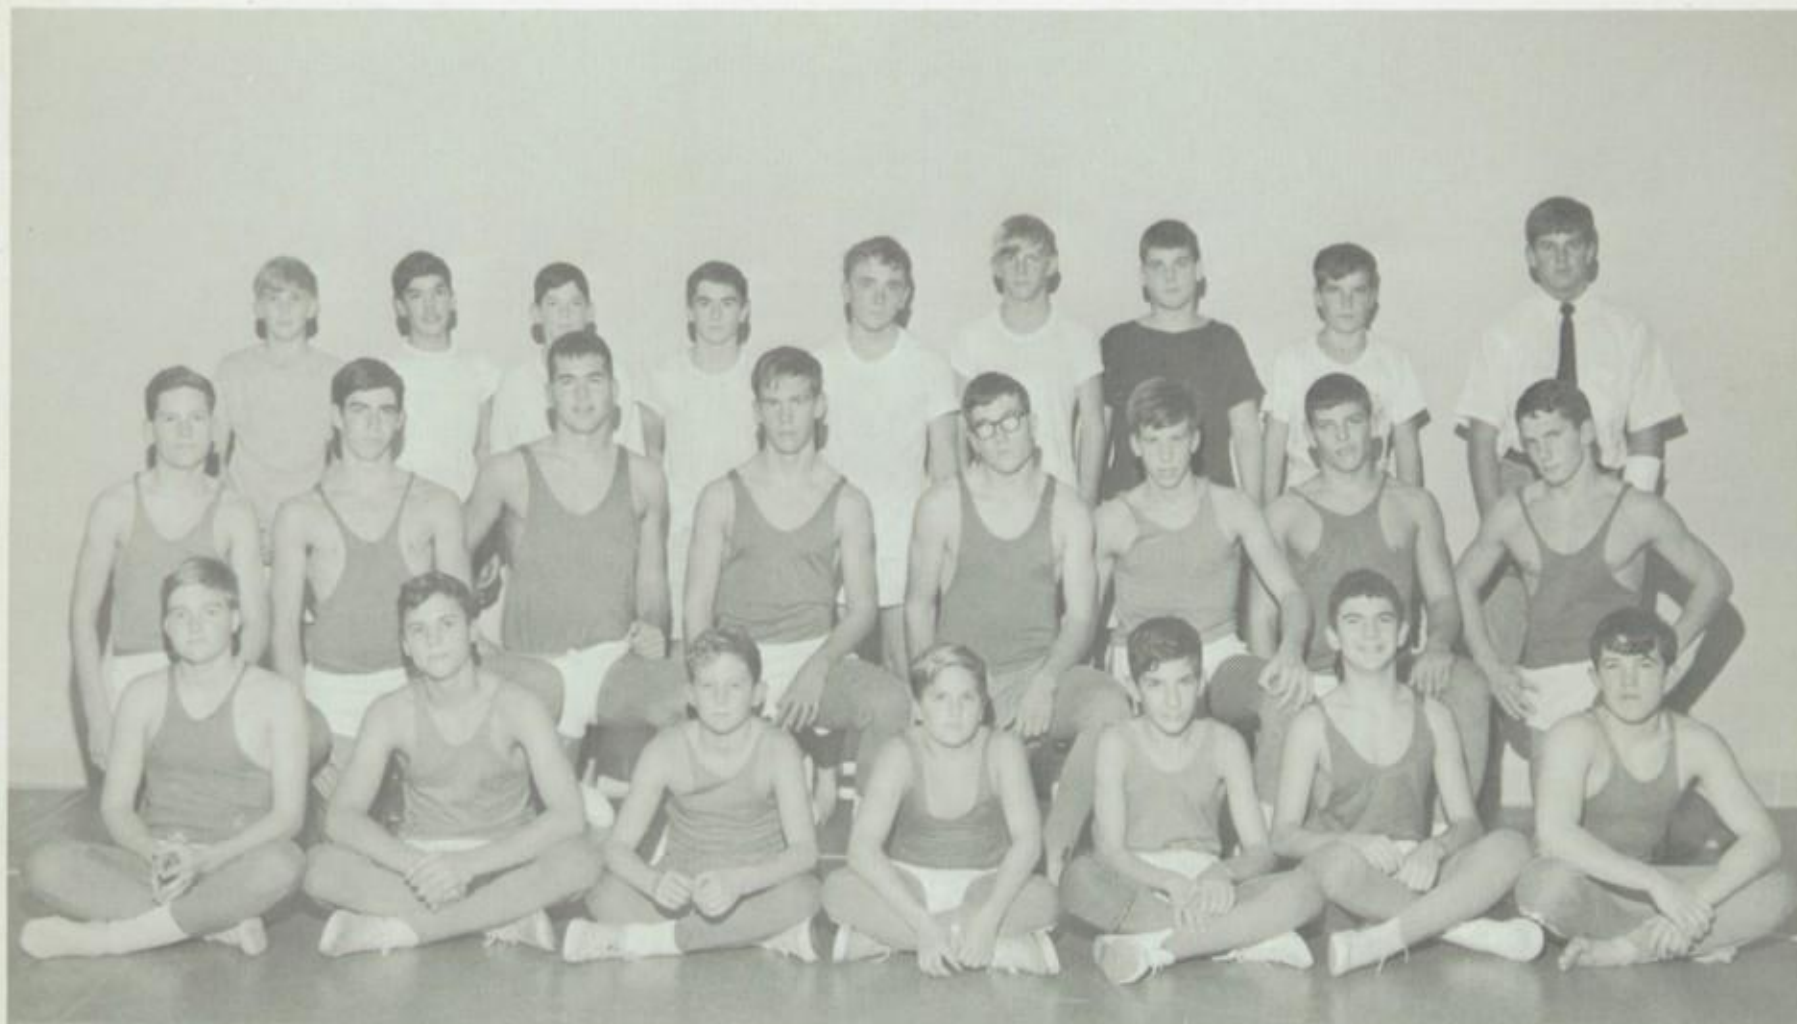

The most exciting contests of the season have been perhaps those with Norfolk Catholic. The first contest proved to be a rousing victory for the NA wrestlers, with a close final score of 24-20. The second match was just as exciting as the first, but the Crusaders carried off the honors, 25-20.

This is the season so far as we go to press—not as successful as we would wish. Nonetheless we have witnessed good team improvement and fine individual growth. Ninety-five-pounder Robert Fink was honored by being ranked third in his weight class in the Tidewater area. Other varsity lower-weight-class wrestlers have turned in good performances: Bill Armstrong, Jeff Kramer, and David Donahoe. The injury of Jeff Weisberg, one of the three Seniors on the team, has been an unfortunate set-back, but Jeff has recently returned to the mat to finish out the season. Allen Perrel and Danny McClung have competed all season for the 133-pound class.

Next year we are looking forward to a skillful team consisting of such juniors as Mike Perrie, John Cox, John Payne, John Taylor, John Coppedge, and Fred Robertson. Bill Boykin is expected to come along as our new heavyweight.

Soccer

This year's soccer team, led by veteran captains John Mitchell and Tom Brockenbrough, is once again looking forward to a winning season. This year Mr. Hecker was joined by a Naval Academy graduate and soccer ace, Mr. Hanna, who has contributed greatly to the team's advancement this year.

On this year's list of returning lettermen are Ted Wood at goalie and linemen John Mitchell, Lizzard McNeal, Tim Taylor, Bill Mason, and Hartwell Cocke. In the backfield returnees Tom Brockenbrough and T. Field lead such promising players as Dirk Schmidt, Steve Thomas, Sonney Fascetta, Jerry Linsly and Bill Sawyer in a defensive squad which promises to be one of the Academy's best.

With these assets, the Bulldogs of the soccer pitch are looking to be among the top in the conference.

Varsity Track

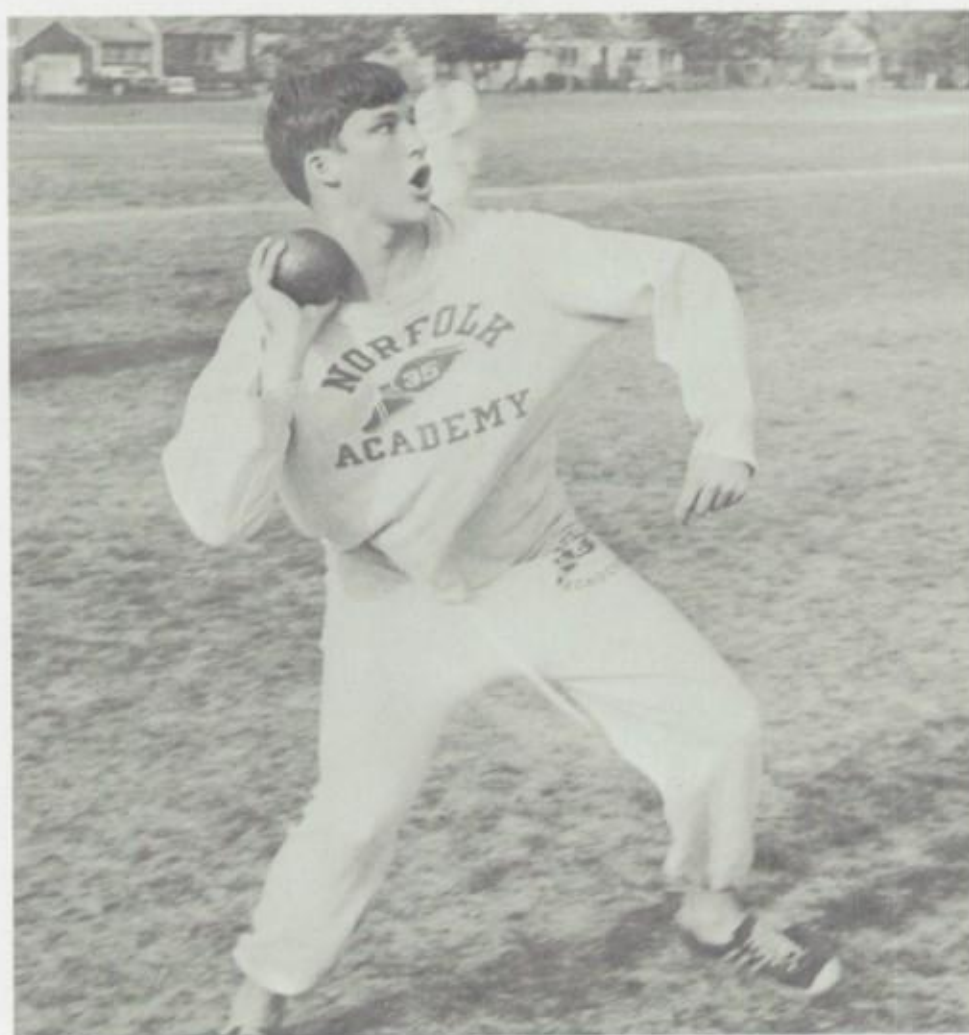

Coaches Jones and Wallace

The coming of spring 1966 brought the men of the Academy Varsity Track Team out onto the football field for its last year. This year's team was led by Captains Duane Moats and Tazewell Taylor and was under the direction of Mr. Jones and Mr. Wallace.

Duane Moats, the recipient of the Admiral Grenfel Award, will long be remembered for his pole vaulting. Duane Moats broke the city record at the City Track Meet with his jump of 13' 4½". David Paul and Bobby Hill ran the 100 and 220 with an excellent season. Bill Mayo and Jerry Linsly turned in top-notch performances in the 440, while Mike Perrie, Mat Terry, and Townie Brown improved greatly in the 880. In the mile and two-mile, Robert and Rick Eustis, John Lumpkin, and Tazewell Taylor did remarkably well. Welton Bradshaw threw the shot and discus for many points for the team.

The team had a winning season of 4-3 marked with victories over Hampton Roads twice, South Hampton, and Franklin. The only losses were to Frederick Military Academy, Norfolk Catholic, and Christ Church. The team is looking forward to another successful season.

Varsity Baseball

This year's varsity baseball team, coached by Mr. Leo Anthony, accumulated an impressive 5 to 1 conference record and a 9 to 5 season overall.

Four returning lettermen—Mike Wood, Bob Collector, John Donahoe, and L. Shulman—backboned the team. The team boasted a .294 batting average, with five batters averaging .300. The team averaged eight runs a game (more than one run per inning) and two hits per inning.

The pitching staff included freshman Bill Coppedge, Ed Earley, and junior John Bennett. Each pitcher averaged one strikeout per inning.

The team, which was kept at an average of twelve players, ended the season with a trophy for third place in the Tidewater Conference.

With approximately eight lettermen returning for the 1967 season, Coach Anthony plans to take first in the Tidewater Conference.

Varsity Tennis

Although many thought the varsity tennis team would face a rebuilding year in 1966, the team finished with a strong 9-4 record. The season featured wins over Thomas Jefferson, defending state champions, and Suffolk, who had beaten the team 5-2 earlier in the season. The team had an abundance of depth, as was shown by the frequent changes in the ladder. The ladder was most often as follows: #1 Ted Wood (most valuable player), #2 Ridge Porter, #3 Rob Henderson, #4 Dick Hotchkiss, #5 Andy Steingold, and #6 Bill Boykin. Hank Garrison and Barbour Rixey added to the team's depth. The team lost only to the University of North Carolina's freshmen, Suffolk, St. Christopher's, and Collegiate.

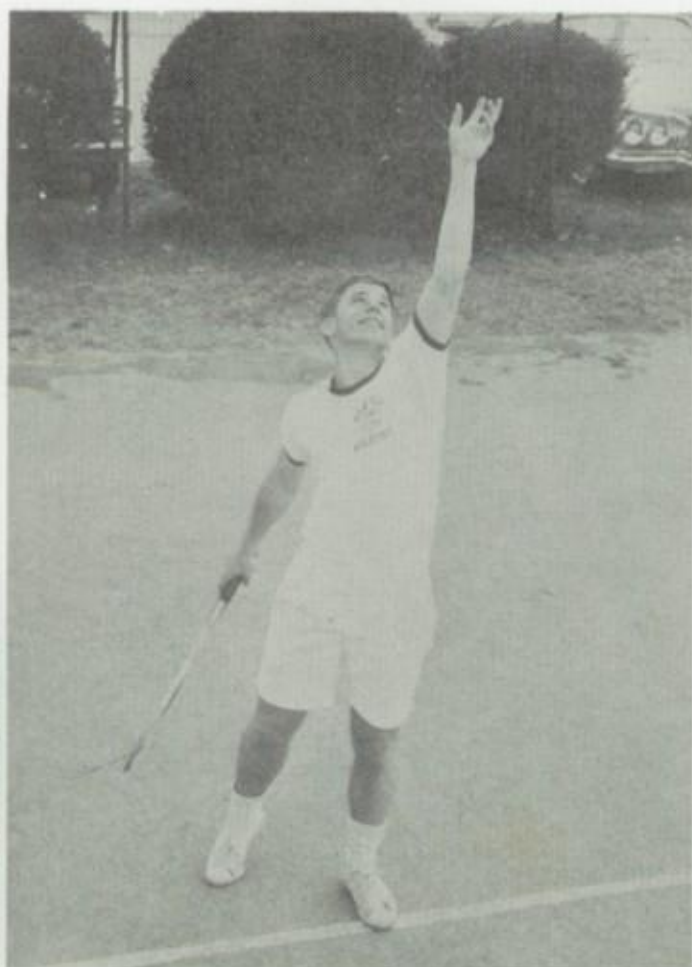

The 1967 tennis team looks forward to a very strong year. Five of the top six are back and four of these are underclassmen. Varsity tennis can look forward to a bright season next year and in the years to follow.

the Norfolk Academy, we introduced a full program of activities for fall, winter and spring. Our aim in physical education is to provide an opportunity for each girl to acquire skills, attitudes and, behavior patterns for the wise use of their leisure and for a happy adjustment to society.

Our fall program introduced three activities which met with great enthusiasm: field hockey, tennis, and modern dance. The girls responded so well to hockey that plans are now under way ment of a deaf girl to society, under the direction of Mrs. Jean B. McIntyre. Plans are under way for the formation of a Modern Dance Club next year.

The tennis program shows much promise in our newly formed varsity under the capable leadership of Mrs. Nina part of the students. A very gratifying and fascinating adventure for the girls was developed in the planning and execution of the first dance program of student-choreographed compositions to folk tunes and a splendid presentation of "The Cloistered"—a fantasy based upon the adjust-

ATHLETICS GIRLS,

Johnson; and we have many beginners and intermediates who show great promise. During the winter months, girls' basketball grew in strength and technique under the skillful direction of Miss Dottie Ellen of Old Dominion College, and we hope for a varsity basketball team in the near future. Other sports offered throughout the school year include volleyball, softball, soccer, and (hopefully) golf.

We look forward to having a formal Girls' Athletic Association and Monogram Club next year and to fostering even better ways to promote good health, leadership, and moral character. We subscribe fully to the ideal of the President's Council on Youth Fitness: "The strength of our democracy is no greater than the collective well-being of our people."

FUND RAISING CANDIES

In May of 1924, on the 31st day of the month, the Academy laid the cornerstone of its new home on the broad acres between Newport and Colonial Avenues as they extend toward North Shore Road. It laid thereby the foundation for forty-two years of a school in a suburban setting as befitted a community that was growing into a modern city. Broken by economic depression and again by war, the Academy rose into years of development unmatched in all its earlier history under the leadership of a great Headmaster, Mr. James B. Massey, Jr.

In this May of 1966, a third wonderful May in our history, on the 22nd day of the month, we have laid the cornerstone of the Academy's newest home. We have laid thereby the foundation for the immeasurable years of opportunity and responsibility that lie ahead of a school tested long by time and hard by circumstance, and renewed and strengthened now by the uniting of two schools in one.

I do not know that the month of May stands out so vividly in the life of our young sister, the Country Day School for Girls, of Virginia Beach—now and eternally as much a part of the Norfolk Academy as the Norfolk Academy itself. But it is impossible to think of this new unity without thinking of the freshness of May and the promise of youth—and of something more.

"Our history may be brief," the Headmistress of the Country Day School for Girls wrote a few days ago, "but we consider it rich." And rich it is!

Sixteen months ago this same Headmistress, standing in the charred ruins of her school after the fire of January, 1965, said this: "A school is not a building. It is a community of elements impervious to fire." In that bad time she looked about her and wrote later: "This week I have seen unselfishness, consideration, devotion, resilience, cooperation which any group could envy."

These are words to underline and emphasize even on a day—indeed, especially on a day—when we have laid the cornerstone of the new school on this spot. The buildings are indispensable. But we are dedicating also the very concept of what a school is, and why we have this one here, and what we mean to do about it. The old school can be grateful to the young school which, through its Headmistress, Mrs. Charles M. Lovitt, can stand so firmly on educational truth and human wisdom.

Not, I must assure you, that the kind of educational relationship that we hail today, almost as though it were something entirely new, has been unknown every year since 1728. That was the year when trustees acquired title to a lot on Church Street, opposite St. Paul's Church, for use as a school site. A half-century later the Court of Aldermen of Norfolk Borough, "summoned and held the 26th day of March 1787 . . . at the request of Mr. (Walker) Maury, Master," adopted "rules and regulations for the good government of the" school—the school that had been built many years earlier although the precise date we do not know. The date of that Court of Aldermen, I remind you, was two months before delegates to a constitutional convention in Philadelphia sat down to write a constitution for "the good government" of the country.

Rule Number One adopted by that Court of Aldermen was this: "That the school be called the Norfolk Academy."

This was a high historic moment. Previously the school had been "the Grammar School," then "the Free School," and then "the Public School;" for it was definitely under public control, as the authority of the Aldermen in laying down rules and regulations shows. The old school of those dim distances did not become a private school until it was incorporated as such by the General Assembly seventeen years later, in 1804, under the legal title of "the Trustees of the Norfolk Academy." But the original roots were there from 1728, the connections are clear, and the name that endured—though with a brief variation or so—was fixed in 1787 and forever.

The Court of Aldermen of 1787 did not stop, however, with one "Rule." The Alderman adopted twenty-three "Rules and Regulations," including Rule Number Nineteen; and that one I read to you:

"That Females be received into the school and taught any Branches of Science, within the System of said School, and that a separate apartment be allotted for them, as soon as a sufficient number attend to render it an object, till then, that they be set in the Latin school." The Latin school was one of two divisions of the Academy, the other being the English school; and in the Latin school the "females" were "set."

A first lesson of Academy history is that there is little new under its sun. "Females"—as the Aldermen called them—were "received into" the Academy. On January 7, 1795, the Norfolk and Portsmouth Herald published a statement by the Rev. James Whitehead, then "acting master" of the Academy. Included in the "acting master's" public statement were these words:

"For my own conveniency, and that I might have the Instruction and Morals of the Youths as much as possible under my own eye, I now live in the Academy"—presumably on the second floor of the schoolhouse on Church Street. "The Young Ladies," his statement continued, "have a separate table appropriate solely for their own use"—it sounds like a kind of coordinate education to me —, "and are under my own direction; and if ever their number becomes so considerable as to employ a separate Teacher, they will have a distinct department, as the regulations direct."

I look forward to the day when some graduate of the Norfolk Academy, striving in some university for a degree of Doctor of Philosophy in history, takes for her dissertation the question of why these "young ladies," who had graduated from the designation of "females," did not become "so considerable as to employ a separate teacher," and what in fact did happen to them then.

What happened eventually, we know unmistakably. A later historian of the Academy wrote in 1848, when the Academy was in the Greek temple on Bank Street, that it was "in flourishing condition, in great contrast to the conditions in the 1830's;" and he continued: "There were then 85 students attending. The sessions in the splendid new building, girls having been eliminated, and military features added," were getting along well—or so he said. It was, of course, a male, not a female, historian.

There is no point to going further with that except to note that it was an unusual period all around. The juxtaposition of a West Point principal, W. F. Hopkins, followed by a Virginia Military Institute principal, John B. Strange, and the Mexican War, led to uniforms and the designation of the school as the Norfolk Military Academy.

And as if to emphasize that those "girls"—who earlier had been "females" and then "young ladies"—had been thoroughly "eliminated," the school began to call itself later the Norfolk Male Academy. But neither of these names lived long. The Number One Rule of 1787 prevailed, and "The Norfolk Academy" resumed its historic title role. The moral is that in a history as long as ours many things indeed can happen.

Something of far greater importance is happening here today, and future historians will mark it well. The uniting of these two schools into one coordinate school is a product, in large part, of more than a dozen years of systematic consideration by the older Academy's Trustees of the long-range future of the school. In the early 1950's the possibility of coeducation or coordination in the Academy's future came under thoughtful discussion. By 1953 it was the subject of formal and carefully prepared statements, notably by the President of the Board, Mr. Edward R. Baird, by an alumnus and earlier President, the late Robert B. Tunstall, and by the Headmaster, Mr. Massey.

On January 3, 1959, to quote from the minutes of a Trustees' meeting, "it was moved and carried that the President appoint a committee to study this program of future enlargement, of coeducation and coordination, of a possible move into Princess Anne County, and related questions."

Thus was born the Expansion Committee headed by Mr. Richard F. Welton, III, with Mr. Harry B. Price, Jr., and Mr. Frank Batten as members, and later Mr. S. Barron Segar as replacement for Mr. Batten. This task force, with its counterpart from the Directors of the Country Day School for Girls, led in all that subsequently came to pass.

The Country Day School for Girls, which Mrs. James N. Bell, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Lawson Miles, Jr., had founded in 1957, and with others had nurtured thereafter, had looked ahead almost from its very birth. Its friends knew that it would not be limited by its site by the sea, its converted and temporary buildings, or the handicaps of its youth. No one could doubt that it was on its way to larger responsibilities. It even acquired property for a future home.

But when the Academy's Expansion Committee approached informally some Directors of the Country Day School—Mr. W. Peyton May, Vice President of the Board, Mr. George H. Ware, Secretary, and Mr. R. Cosby Moore—and later conferred more formally with a committee of Directors appointed for the purpose—Mr. Moore, Mr. Julian S. Lawrence, and Mr. Lewis W. Webb, Jr.—the representatives of both schools grew seriously interested. They found a program of acting together, not in coeducation but in coordination, more logical, more practical, and more promising than any other program that either could devise for itself.

In making decisions neither school acted uniquely. The increase of independent schools in the past twenty years has been a national phenomenon. The number of schools that have joined their operations in various ways with the operations of schools for the other sex, and the quality of those that have done so, and the success they have attained in doing so, are all impressive. A substantial body of experience has been built up. A large amount of study, based on this practical experience as well as on educational theory and philosophy, has been done across the country and continues.

The two schools concluded that a well designed and well administered coordinate school, one in which they could unite their strengths naturally and confidently, could lead to advantages not to be ignored by those responsible for education today.

Such a school could provide better facilities more economically than the two schools when operating separately could provide for themselves. It could retain the classroom management of two schools while organizing joint activities in art, music, and the drama. It could do more for its library and library services as a common meeting ground than one school or the other could do alone. Comparable improvements it could bring, we believe, in other necessities and adjuncts of school life without losing the virtues of the kinds of schools the two are operating today. These virtues can be held in a coordinate school, and a coordinate school can produce advantages which neither of the other two could produce alone.

Starting afresh, as it were, such a coordinated school could find a location better adapted to the clientele of the two schools, and at the same time better adapted to a swiftly growing region that will demand, and in one way or another will get, better and better education.

The result, the two schools concluded, can be a school that this entire region—and many other regions—will recognize and respect; that will lift higher, and for more students, standards, of education that come nearer today's essential and insistent requirements; that will play a larger part in making Tidewater Virginia increasingly attractive to intelligent people and more desirable and stimulating to live in and to do business in.

Thus it can help to guide the growth that is on its way but can be encouraged by the presence here of excellence in education. For excellence in education is our goal.

We believe that an independent school like this new Norfolk Academy can reach for these goals in full cooperation with the public school systems of Virginia and the schools of all the cities and counties around and near us. The Academy enjoys happy relations with these schools now. We mean to see that these happy relations continue, in substantial degree for the values they can bring to us. For more Virginians are more serious about education today than at any earlier moment in three and a half centuries, and the public schools will reflect that interest.

We are all engaged in fighting the war against ignorance, against narrowness, against prejudice, and for enlightenment and unlimited opportunities for all. We are all bound by the dictum of Alfred North Whitehead, declared long before people began to talk of population explosions, the utilization of atomic energy, the conquest of space, or even the "new math." "In the conditions of modern life," he said, "the rule is absolute: the race which does not value trained intelligence is doomed."

The events that followed the decisions belong in the realm of miracles. The miracle of the financial campaign has been a triumph of the spirit, and so it will be to the completion of that campaign. It is a victory for determination, a tribute to intelligent foresight, a disclosure of generosity beyond anyone's estimation, a desire to make gifts in memory and devotion, a willingness to sacrifice for a fine cause. It has aroused the enthusiasm of children and corporation boards, of parents and teachers, of government and business, of old and devoted friends, and of long lines of people who stood up for education and honored this school with their trust and confidence.

To all these the Norfolk Academy is deeply and eternally grateful. We shall need all their faith and support in the future. This land around us, the miracle of these buildings before us, all the provisions and facilities that are being gathered here, represent the deliberate conviction of the Academy's leaders that this they must do, and less than this they are not willing to do.

This means the assumption of heavy obligations. But so does life itself. The officers and trustees of this school have no doubt, with the endowment of faith and the material foundation which the friends of this school have provided, that the Academy's future is sustained now by new and marvelous strength. They would repeat in this May of 1966 the concluding words which our forefathers wrote in Latin on a silver plate and placed in the cornerstone that was laid in that earlier May of 1840. Translated, these words read:

"Knowledge is the light of life and the life of liberty.

May the Republic endure forever!"
